

SURPRISE! What's on Your Computer You Didn't Know About

This presentation will explain to viewers about the different kinds of Personally Identifiable Information (PII) that may be on their computer that they do not know about. Information such as Social Security Numbers, Credit Card Numbers, and other health and financial information.

Viewers will be guided through how to determine what information constitutes PII, how it may have gotten on their computers, how to find it, and how to keep it secure in the future.

This presentation will feature a live software demo. The software will be provided following the presentation.

Presented by: John Cornwell, CIST, CDP